HIGH BACK ARMCHAIR

Thara explores the idea of vast stillness, shaping teak into a form that feels both grounded and quietly elevated.

Designed by Adam Court, the high-back armchair is defined by gentle curvature and a composed silhouette that suggests openness while maintaining a strong, steady presence. The piece stands confidently on its own, carrying a distinct identity achieved through refined proportions and a sense of poised balance. Teak craftsmanship is central to the design, expressed through its tactile warmth and the clarity of its lines.

Thara reflects a harmony between structure and softness, a piece shaped to hold space with ease, clarity, and calm authority.
